

Exercise

As part of building an accounting application, we need to allow the user to import their data in a variety of formats such as:

- Excel spreadsheets (Windows)
- Number spreadsheets (Mac)
- QuickBook workbooks (special accounting software)

In the future, we may need to support other data formats.

Look at the current implementation of our data reader at chainOfResponsibility/DataReader.

What are the problems with this implementation? Refactor this code and use the chain of responsibility pattern to solve these problems.
